Dear Joe:

We appreciated so much the kind note you left on the car the night the meeting closed at Granny White. You were a source of great inspiration during the week. Our admiration and regard for you grows with each opportunity we have to be with you.

I regret our being unable to spend more time together in general discussion, but the week proved to be too full of formal activities to allow for more of what I thought would have been highly important--the informal gatherings with students on the campus. Give my regards to all our mutual friends at the school.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
